Be Found By Him in Peace, Spotless and Blameless

■ Put Team First

When the team comes first, personal recognition, interpersonal concerns, relationships, internal and external issues can challenge a team's Cohesiveness. Things must be put in proper perspective.

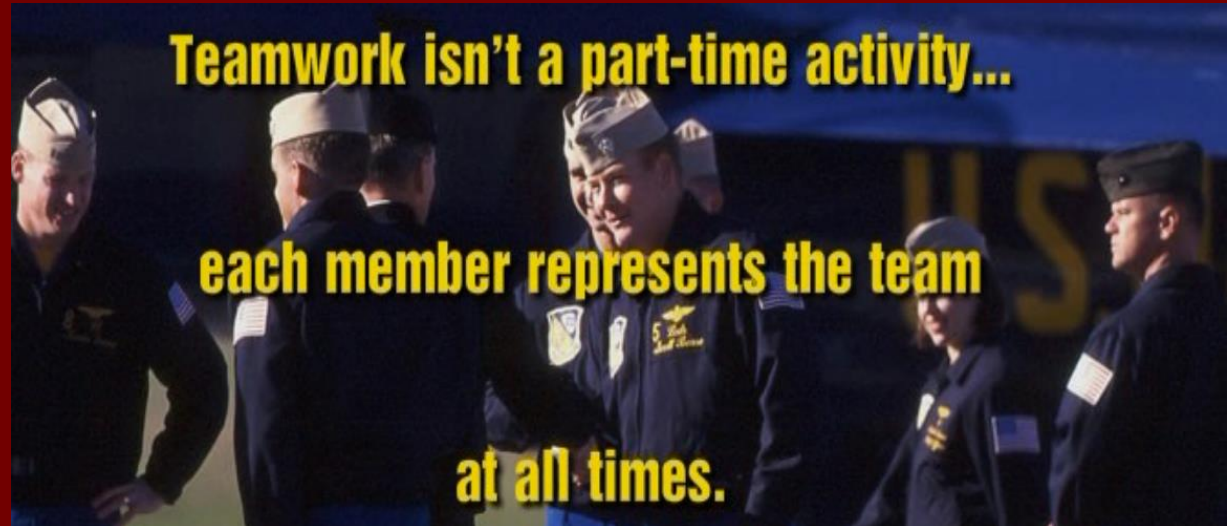

Sacrificing individual gain for the team's greater good is the price of admission members must pay and keep paying to be on the team.

Communicate

Vertically + Horizontally

The image shows two crew members in silhouette, wearing headsets, standing in the open bay of a military aircraft. They are looking out over a vast, arid desert landscape. In the center of the frame, another aircraft is flying towards them. The scene is captured from a high-angle perspective, looking down from the bay of the aircraft. The text is overlaid in the center of the image.

Every member on the team requires clear and effective communication to accomplish their job.
